NOVEL LEGAL PROCEEDING

The Pocahontas Collieries Company Asks For Injunction to Stop Prosecution of Damage Suits.

It will be remembered that about thirty damage suits were brought in the circuit court of Tazewell county as a result of the explosion in the mines of the Pocahontas Collieries Company which occurred on the 3rd of October, 1906. Twenty-five of the suits were brought in the name of S. S. F. Harman, sheriff of Tazewell county, and as such administrator of twenty-five persons who lost their lives in the explosion. Two of the suits had been tried at former terms of the court, at each trial a verdict being rendered for the defendant company, and leaving twenty-three actions still untied. Counsel for the defendant company conceived a plan for preventing a further prosecution of the untied actions, if possible, and to accomplish that purpose presented to Judge Kegley what is called a Bill of Peace, with prayer for an injunction against S. S. F. Harman, adm'r, &c. Notice was served of the application, and on last Monday Judge Kegley came to Tazewell to act upon and dispose of the matter. Counsel for the defendants in the bill demurred to the bill, and the demurrer was argued before Judge Kegley, V. L. Sexton and S. W. Williams arguing for Harman, administrator, and J. W. Chapman, S. C. Graham and R. R. Henry arguing for the Collieries Company. When the bill was filed Henry & Graham and Chapman & Gillespie had filed therewith a printed brief in support of this very novel proceeding in a Virginia court. The brief very cleverly presents the questions raised in the bill and cites numerous cases and authority in support of their contention.

After hearing the arguments on the demurrer, and giving due consideration thereto, Judge Kegley sustained the demurrer and dismissed the bill. It is the purpose of counsel for the Collieries Company to take the case to the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia; and as it is a case of first impression in the courts of Virginia the bar will be greatly interested in the final determination of the case.

ADMIRAL CERVERA DEAD.

Commanded The Spanish Fleet in The Battle of Santiago.

Puerto Real, Spain, April 3.—Vice Admiral Pascual Cervera, who commanded the Spanish fleet in the battle of Santiago, Cuba, died here this afternoon.

Admiral Cervera was retired from the active list of the Spanish navy on December 14, last, at his own request, owing to failing health. He suffered from an affection of the heart. Admiral Cervera was born on February 18, 1839.

On the outbreak of the war with the United States he sailed from the Cape Verde Islands with four cruisers and three torpedo boat destroyers on April, 1897, entered the harbor of Santiago de Cuba, May 19, and lost his entire fleet off that port July 3, in an attempt to force his way through Admiral Sampson's blockading squadron.

At The Locomotive Works.

Richmond, Va., April 3.—Throughout the various departments in the big shops of the Richmond branch of the American Locomotive Works, everything is being rapidly put in shape for handling of big orders for locomotives. Every department is being thoroughly systematized and the various departments are being organized and brought closer together. New machinery has been installed in various shops and departments. Order for locomotives received now can be handled and the output finished with more speed than ever before. At present one thousand men are at work in the big plant. More are being added as the work progresses.

Condition of Mrs. H. C. Stuart.

Richmond, Va., April 3.—A private letter received in this city by a friend from Henry C. Stuart, one-time candidate for Governor of Virginia, and also member of the State Corporation Commission, now in Paris with his wife, who has been under medical treatment for some months, is to the effect that the condition of Mrs. Stuart does not improve as was hoped. Her physicians are hopeful that in a short time the effects of their treatment will manifest themselves, and that she will gradually return to normal health. Mr. Stuart gives no intimation of when he expects to be able to come back to America.

S. W. VIRGINIA NEWS ITEMS.

WHAT HAS RECENTLY TRANSPIRED IN THE COUNTIES OF THIS SECTION.

It looks very much like Roanoke will have an interesting campaign the coming fall. The result of the local option contest, and the general bad political conditions have stirred the people up, and there is a plan on foot to organize a Good Government League, or another party under another name. Wets and dries are interested in the move. It is said that many citizens who were vetoed dry on account of political conditions, and they are working with others to organize an independent party.

On last Saturday Revenue Agent Dyer and Deputy Collector Jack McBroom, of Abingdon, Va., seized the plant of the Ethol Alcohol Company, located at Bristol, Va., and confiscated 4,000 gallons of alcohol valued at $8,000. The officers declined to give out any information further than to say that the seizure was made on account of the failure of the company to comply with the internal revenue laws. No arrests were made when the plant was seized, and it is stated that business will be resumed just as soon as a satisfactory bond can be given.

The Laura, the Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke Company's furnace, located at Radford, Va., which was closed down a short time ago for repairs, has again resumed operations. Mrs. Henry K. McHarg, wife of the general superintendent, applied the torch that set the giant furnace a roaring, while hundreds of workmen stood by in impressive joyful silence. The furnace going in blast again means a great deal to Radford and Southwest Virginia. It is one of the best plants belonging to the Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke Company, and, in fact, one of the best in the South, and will give employment to hundreds of skilled and unskilled workmen.

St. Albans.

Announcement is made that Rev. J. L. Einstein, owner and principal of St. Albans College, Radford, Va., has decided to convert that well known institution into a preparatory school for girls, and that every effort will be put forward to make it second to none in the country. In the future it will be known as St. Albans School for Girls.

St. Albans was founded in 1892 by the late Professor George W. Miles, who, at the time, held a chair at Emory and Henry College, the opening address being made by his warm personal friend, Thomas Nelson Page. The school, under this brilliant man, soon took high rank, both in academic and athletics, being recognized as one of the best fitting schools in the South, and receiving the patronage of many prominent public men, such as Senator Daniel, Speaker Crisp, General Buckner and others.

After the removal of Professor Miles to New York, and his subsequent death, the school passed into other hands, and was closed for several years. It was purchased by its present owner about three years ago, since which time the school has been exceedingly well patronized and its work of the highest order.

St. Albans was always liberally patronized by the people of this section, many young men from Tazewell and adjoining counties having at one time and another been enrolled among its student body, and, as a feminine institution, it will have the hearty good wishes and support of many people throughout this section of Southwest Virginia.

Will Preach Commencement Sermon.

The Bristol Herald Courier of recent date says:

It is announced by President B. R. Smith, of King College, that the commencement sermon of that institution will be preached by the Rev. S. O. Hall, of Tazewell, Va., on Sunday, June 6th.

The Rev. Mr. Hall is one of the best known Presbyterian ministers in this section and his address will be awaited with much pleasure. King College is nearing the close of a successful year, and more elaborate commencement exercises than usual will be held.

Get Stiff Sentences.

Guy Bostock and Al B. Neal, who were arrested recently in Bluefield, W. Va., on a charge of robbing the post-office at Russellville, Tenn., by Inspector H. W. Robinson, were tried in the federal court at Greenville, Tenn., on last Friday and were sentenced to four years each in the Atlanta, Ga., penitentiary and fined $750. The men confessed, and it was revealed that they were equipped with nitroglycerine and a complete outfit for burglarizing. They had been operating in several southern states.

PENSIONS.

The Confederate Pension Board will meet at Tazewell on Wednesday, April 28th, to amend and correct the pension list, and to transact such business as may come before the board.

Guilty of Bigamy.

Bristol, Tenn., April 6.—After one jury had failed to agree in the case of William Summerfield, tried at Abingdon, Va., on a charge of bigamy, another jury gave him three years in the penitentiary. It was in evidence that Summerfield has three wives in Virginia. He first married Minerva Messic, of Lee county, later he married a Grayson county woman, and a few months ago completed the trio of wives by marrying Mollie Wells, a pretty 16-year-old girl, at Abingdon.

WEARY WILLIE

Bids His Many Friends at Bear Wallow Farewell.

As my sojourn at this place is nearly ended, I have taken this method of saying adieu. When this appears in print "Weary Willie" will be far from the scenes of Bear Wallow, leaving behind him this ridge with its perpetual winds, and the snow-capped hills of West Virginia, which have been his closest friends since he came here nearly four months ago.

My stay upon this mountain has been wet, muddy, cold and blustery, though very pleasant regardless of the weather. The people are all very kind hearted, but they do not receive the treatment from the school officials that they deserve. The school room that I have occupied is a disgrace to Virginia. Children are plentiful and seemingly bright and witty, though unlearned, because they scarcely ever have an opportunity of going to school. In mid winter they have gone to school through snow and winds, for a period of three or four months, and the house is not fit to comfortably house sheep or cattle. They deserve better treatment and I hope they will get it in the near future.

I have met many people since I came here whom I have learned to admire, and I hope they will remember me when I am far from their midst. Especially am I indebted to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Christian with whom I boarded. They took me in a stranger, gave me space at their fire side and a seat at their table. I can never forget their kindness and hospitality. I am also under many obligations to D. W. Altizer, clerk for Christian Bros., and my companion while on the ridge. Our associations have been pleasant and our friendship warm. When far from him I will recall our good times together. May all his days be pleasant ones and may we meet again. And to "Duck," may he live always and be happy.

I hope the little village of Bear Wallow will not lose its place in the columns of the Republican when I am here no more. I have boosted their town, I have visited their homes, I have been untiring in my attempts to advance their children in an educational way. My work is done; I am ready to go.

May the Republican live long and prosper, and its gallant editor be long with us. He has served his country through war and peace. His head has grown gray in the cause of his country and always stands for that which he thinks best for his country's welfare. In political battles he has been untiring in his efforts to expose grafters and defend honest men. I have read his editorials in which he has praised Democrats and assailed Republicans. His editorial on the death of Grover Cleveland was a master piece of journalism and his scathing remarks on David F. Bailey were as bitter as the other was sweet.

Though I am a Democrat and he a Republican, I hope that we both may stand together on right and justice. With grateful wishes and sincere regards for all whom I have met since my arrival here, I now bid you adieu, and hope you will remember

WEARY WILLIE.

Bear Wallow, April 4.

DONE BY A BOY.

Mystery of Rocking Trains Near Pulaski Solved.

Bristol, April 5.—The mystery of the stoning of passenger trains near Pulaski, Va., was cleared up Friday night last, when a boy of the community where the trouble had been occurring was caught red-handed. The train crew was on the alert, and the boy, whose name is not given here, was seen to throw a stone straight against one of the coaches of train No. 13, west-bound. Conductor David Copenhaver stopped the train immediately, and he and Detective Wakefield caught the boy as he was entering a rear door at his own home. He was taken to jail at Pulaski.

It is stated in this connection that recently a stone thrown from the same place crushed through a window of a coach, the flying particles of glass having cut and painfully injured the face of a lady passenger.

Fire at Wise.

Bristol, Tenn., April 5.—The residence of Rev. G. W. Kilgore at Wise, Va., was destroyed by fire today. Loss, $3,000; insurance, $1,500.

POUNDING MILL.

Items of Interest From The Little Town On the Clinch.

Misses Maggie Hurt and Sallie Brittain heard Polk Miller at Tazewell last Saturday night.

Chas. Caldwell, formerly of this place, but now of Bluefield, visited friends here several days last week.

Mrs. W. B. Steele visited her mother, Mrs. J. Marion McGuire, at Cedar Bluff Sunday. Mrs. McGuire has been suffering the past week with rheumatism.

The stork passed through the village Tuesday and left a fine boy baby with Mr. and Mrs. William Holland.

Mrs. Dock Altizer, of Richlands, visited her mother, Mrs. Susan Ringstaff, and other relatives the latter part of last week.

John Gillespie visited his two sons at Raven Sunday.

The public cemetery is being substantially and nicely fenced with wire.

The Richlands High School faculty was given April 1st as a holiday and the following teachers spent part of the day at the baryta mill near this place skating: Prof. Lewis, Mrs. W. B. Spratt, Misses Lula Hankins and Effie Williams. They report an enjoyable time.

Zack Shamblin and three sons, who are finishing Miss Eliza Rathiff's house at Richlands, spent Sunday with home folks.

Miss Jessie O. Keefe, of Tazewell, is visiting her sister, Mrs. R. K. Gillespie. C. L. Lambert, the efficient train clerk on this line, stopped off here today on his way to his home in Sinking Waters.

Walker Ringstaff, bridge foreman of the N. & W., spent Saturday night and Sunday with his family here.

Miss Uva Steele made her usual trip to Cedar Bluff today.

There will be preaching at the Church of God Saturday night and Sunday by Rev. H. McCraw.

Mrs. M. J. Sturgill visited Maxwell today.

So far as your correspondent can ascertain Mrs. W. B. Steele is ahead at this place in the young chicken business—having about one hundred.

We understand that Marion Phillips, on the Clinch, has a very sick child. It has diphtheria, and Dr. M. B. Crockett, of Tazewell, is the attending physician.
